Welcome to the 2009-2010 school year at Argyle Middle School. My name is Scott Gibson. I am beginning my first year as principal of AMS after serving the last three years as the assistant principal. I look forward to working with parents to help ensure we meet the needs of this early adolescent age group. Expectations academically, athletically, and in the fine arts are set at the highest level. Argyle students consistently meet and exceed expectations in all areas.

Our top priorities at AMS are to provide a safe and secure learning environment and to challenge students academically. Therefore, I have set a few goals for the 2009-2010 school year:

1. To regain an Exemplary rating by the Texas Education Agency. The students and teachers at AMS are exemplary and this goal will give us a tangible way to measure academic growth.
2. To win the UIL Academic meet. AMS placed second in this last year.
3. To decrease bullying incidents between AMS students and show the value of each student. This goal is difficult to measure but is as important as any we can create.

Striving to attain these goals will help create a culture where all students are challenged and all students feel valued. Working together, parents and teachers can enjoy the successes experienced by these great students.
