UIL Academics

Hilltop is currently the District 8- AAA UIL Academic Elementary Division Champions and has earned this 1st Place award most recently in school years: 2005/06, 2006/07, 2007/08, 2008/09 & 2009/10.

The University Interscholastic League (UIL) academic contests help students develop communication skills and conceptual understanding. Students become problem solvers, independent learners, and apply these skills to all facets of their lives. Students study and work hard to prepare for the competitions and learn the importance of holding the highest standards of sportsmanship. The UIL Academic competitions continue for students throughout high school and college.

Curriculum Enrichment Programs

Hilltop provides several types of literacy intervention.

First grade students who need extra help may be selected for 30 minutes of daily individual tutoring for up to 18 weeks, or they may be part of a literacy group that receives extra reading help four days a week with one of the specially trained teachers. Second through Fourth graders needing additional reading instruction may also be part of a literacy group meeting for 45 minutes four days a week. These groups are formed from teacher recommendations and assessment by the reading teachers.

Dyslexia therapy is a general education program for students identified with dyslexia. Students are pulled from their regular classroom 4 days per week for 45-60 minute therapy lessons taught by a trained dyslexia therapist in small groups. Hilltop utilizes two programs designed for students with dyslexia: Alphabetic Phonics and Take Flight (a Texas Scottish Rite Hospital curriculum).

The ESL program focuses on increasing academic achievement for students in Kindergarten through fourth grade whose first language is one other English. Hilltop's pull-out program integrates second language acquisition with content area instruction to ensure that ESL students acquire social and academic language proficiency in English, learn the knowledge and skills in the TEKS, and reach their full academic potential.

The A+ learning system uses a multi-sensory approach to learning which combines text, images, audio and video. This method of learning is research based and has shown to be effective in teaching students with disabilities as well as an excellent mode for enhancing literacy skills in all students.

Academic Programs

Horizon is an academically gifted and talented pull-out service for 3rd through 5th grade. The program serves those students who show evidence of academically gifted abilities by meeting certain criteria. The program provides opportunities and experiences that are suited to the needs of academically gifted students and allows them to continue to develop their potential.

Outdoor Learning Center

The Garden Center is a place where students can go for real world hands on learning in every curriculum area. The Center includes raised beds, planting areas and an enclosed pond.

Any academic concept generates more enthusiasm when introduced in the context of the garden. Students have the opportunity to observe, hypothesize, calculate, learn or just enjoy all facets of the garden.

Safety Patrol

Our school's safety patrol is intended to help with morning drop-off and afternoon pick-up while building leadership skills and instilling responsibility in selected 4th graders who apply for the position in May of their 3rd grade year. We are extremely thankful to each patrol member's hard work and for their gift of dedicated service.

Chess Club

Each spring Hilltop students in grades 2-4 have the opportunity to participate in the school's chess club. Chess Club serves as a wonderful opportunity for children to learn about sportsmanship and character while learning to play a truly amazing game that has been shown to improve memory, reasoning, and creativity. The chess season culminates with the much anticipated Hilltop Elementary Chess Tournament that is held each April.

Battle of the Books

The goals for this contest are to promote the love of reading, to familiarize children with the best in books, to learn to interact with others in a team setting working together for a common goal and to have lots of fun while learning. Teams of students work together with a parent coach to read and remember as much as they can about a group of books, then participate in team competition based on these books. The two teams with the most points at the local level compete with other schools in our region.
